Peter Eschenbach, 10, of Downers Grove kisses the Stanley Cup Tuesday while it was on display at Athletico Physical Therapy office in Oak Brook.

Still celebrating!

The Stanley Cup is still making the rounds and, yep, folks are still flocking to get their picture taken with the iconic trophy. The Cup was on display Tuesday at the Athletico Physical Therapy office in Oak Brook where Jeff Thomas, an assistant athletic trainer for the Blackhawks, also works as a physical therapist. Among those getting close to the Cup were Addison and Thomas Goetz of Niles.
